AKG Lyra is an ultra-HD USB microphone built upon AKG's 70-year studio legacy. With pristine sound quality, four optimized capture modes and intuitive on-board controls Lyra is ideal for recording or live-streaming professional-sounding podcasts, YouTube videos, music and more.

Plug-and-play with PC, Mac and your iOS or Android mobile devices via USB. The sophisticated vintage-modern industrial design will keep you inspired at your desk, in the studio and on location. Bundled together with Ableton recording software, AKG Lyra is the ultimate microphone for content creators.

KEY MESSAGES

Ultra-HD Audio Quality
The Lyra's advanced circuitry delivers acoustically transparent, 24-bit/192kHz audio resolution, which meets the standards of 4K Ultra-HD projects. An internal self-adjusting shock mount minimizes contact noise, and proprietary Internal Element Overload Prevention automatically reduces noise, eliminates pops and improves signal levels.

Plug-and-Play Universal Compatibility
Easy, plug-and-play setup and usage on PC, Mac, iOS or Android devices via a USB-C connection and tested with the most popular audio and video production software, live streaming and conferencing applications.

Adaptive Capsule Array For Perfect Capture
Lyra's proprietary Adaptive Capsule Array offers four user-friendly capture modes, optimized for any performance or application: Front, Front + Back, Tight Stereo, Wide Stereo.

Modern Design With Vintage Appeal
This distinctive microphone exudes cool at every angle, with sleek industrial stylings accenting a modern, vintage-inspired design. Integrated cable management keeps the workspace streamlined and clutter free.
